GLYN POVEY APPOINTED VICE PRESIDENT OPERATIONS FOR CROSSLANDS RESOURCES

Crosslands Resources is pleased to announce the appointment of Glyn Povey to the position of Vice President Operations.

Mr Povey brings more than 15 years experience to Crosslands, which owns and operates the Jack Hills iron ore project 380 kilometres north-east of Geraldton in Western Australia's mid-west region.

Most recently Director of Operations in PNG for Matrix Investments, he has local and international experience across contracting businesses, exploration projects and mining companies.

A graduate of the WA School of Mines, Mr Povey previously held underground mining manager roles with Harmony Gold and Croesus; and project management and engineering roles with Brandrill and WMC.

Crosslands Chief Executive Officer, Stuart Hall, welcomed Mr Povey to Crosslands, which has seen several recent recruits as part of the establishment of an autonomous company.

"Glyn will oversee the management of our existing and future operations including production, logistics, safety, environment, community relations and the continued development of a capable workforce," said Mr Hall.

"We are an energetic and hands on group at Crosslands and take a holistic view that requires working closely as a team to achieve our business objectives.

"While Glyn has the technical and management experience, he also brings an approach that reflects our ethos and our focus on sustainability.

"I am delighted to have Glyn join our management team."

Crosslands is jointly owned (50/50) by Murchison Metals Ltd and Mitsubishi Development Pty Ltd, a subsidiary of Mitsubishi Corporation, Japan's largest general trading company.
